Staglin Center for Cognitive Neuroscience

Pilot study request information

CCN Pilot Policy*: At this time, we can only afford to provide pilot funds for imminent grant submissions that intend to use CCN resources. There is an exception for PIs that have spent over $100,000 at the center and have therefore accrued additional pilot time to use at their discretion. First time users can receive up to 12 hours of scan time. Repeat users can receive 6 hours per calendar year. We hope with continued success to increase these numbers whenever feasible. The Staglin CCN Executive Group reviews all pilot study requests. A member of the committee will meet with each requesting PI to understand the project and then present it to the Executive Group for final approval. The CCN is committed to the broader Diversity, Equity & Inclusion mission of UCLA and requires all projects to report on population demographics in support of this cause.*

GRANT INFO

Funding organization:

Submission date:

Pilot Title:

PI Name:

Already IRB Approved?

Brief summary of grant design and main hypotheses tested:

Describe and justify scientifically population to be tested:

PILOT INFO

Pilot Aim (explain why the pilot data is needed, how will it strengthen the application, why the application is unlikely to be successful without the pilot data):

Pilot Population (describe and justify scientifically choice of population tested for the pilot):

Scan Details (specify sequence type, length in min and # included in each scan)

Anatomical:

Functional:

DTI:

Other:

Total scan hours requested:

Additional Comments:

REPORTING COMMITMENT

CCN Pilot Reporting Policy: To ensure the longevity of the pilot program, we ask all grantees to provide the center with an initial progress report that describes the use of the funds and the pilot results, and the progress of the grant submission, as well as a final report at the outcome of the grant submission. This report is due 1 year from the date the funds were granted, unless other arrangements were made with the center.

☐ I commit to provide an initial progress report to the CCN 1 year from receipt of funds, as well as a final report.